The Center for Experiments in Art, Information, and Technology (CEAIT) is holding its 6th annual festival of electronic music. The festival is student-organized and, over the past five years, has presented a wide range of performances and installations, many of which integrated media outside audio such as dance, video, text and computer graphics.

Presenters for the 2003 Festival will include Elise Baldwin, Clay Chaplin, Darren Gibbs, Tom Heasley, Chris Musgrave, Sagan, and many others.
